MOSASP Helps Blair Oaks School District Furnish New School

Blair Oaks Superintendent Dr. James Jones stands near furniture he acquired through the Missouri State Agency for Surplus Property.

Blair Oaks RII Superintendent Dr. James Jones has been a long-time supporter of the Missouri State Agency for Surplus Property (MOSASP), saving thousands of dollars over the years as he furnishes local schools with surplus property. In 2009, he heavily utilized the program to furnish a middle school, estimating that he saved nearly $200,000 by acquiring items through MOSASP. So when Blair Oaks began building a new high school, Dr. Jones knew exactly where to go to furnish it at a fraction of the cost of buying retail.

In the spring of 2021, a federal building in St. Louis needed to be cleared of excess desks, office supplies and shelves, and much of this property ultimately made its way to the new Blair Oaks High School in Wardville. For two weeks, MOSASP team members Paul Hodge and Ernie Rademann would leave Jefferson City at 4 a.m. to make the 280-mile round trip drive to St. Louis to pick up property. Dr. Jones secured most of what they brought back, storing it in a secondary facility while the high school was under construction. Eventually, each classroom was furnished with desks (both wooden and variable-height), shelves, tables, electronic equipment, and whiteboards. Being able to acquire so much property from a singular location helped the school maintain a cohesive look, while also helping the district save money and be good stewards of the available funds. Dr. Jones estimated the district saved more than $70,000 furnishing the high school due to acquiring property through MOSASP.

“We strive to be efficient and the best we can be. Surplus Property is a hidden gem, a piece of gold we have found. We are in the business of being good stewards of our tax dollars and MOSASP allows us to make those dollars go a long way,” Dr. Jones said.

Dr. Jones added that he is in constant contact with his school principals to be aware of any needs that could be supplied by MOSASP, because he believes the program is vital to the survival of many entities, particularly school districts. He frequently encourages other school districts to utilize MOSASP to help stretch their own budget dollars.

Manager Lee Ann Blythe, said she was thrilled that MOSASP was able to meet the needs of Blair Oaks.

“We work to meet the needs and wants of our donees. It pleases us that the furniture found a home and will continue to serve the Blair Oaks RII School District for years to come,” Blythe stated.

Rademann said he was happy he could help the school district and looks forward to fulfilling the districts future needs. He was happy to work with Dr. Jones and appreciative of the help he provided when communicating about needed property or assisting in the unloading of furniture.

“Dr. Jones was enjoyable to work with. We communicated often about property needs and what he was looking for. He also was available to help unload the property as well,” Rademann said.

The MOSASP team looks forward to continue collaborations with Dr. Jones and the Blair Oaks School District as well as other school districts. This success story is a great example of the MOSASP motto of “Spend a little. Save a lot!”
